

SHOT FOR A GIRL, SUFFERS TORTURE TO SHIELD HER

Young Man with Bullet in Arm Hides His Assailants.

BETRAYED BY AGONY.

Involuntary Exclamation to Surgeon Shows Cause of Quarrel to Be Woman.

In a determined effort to keep the name of a girl secret, a young man, who gave his name as William Kramer, and who said he was living at 11111 Hotel No. 2, suffered agonies in the Delancey Street Police Station early today, while a surgeon was probing a bullet wound in his arm, and then went to a cell on the charge of being a suspicious person.

Policeman Curran was at Grand and Ridge streets just before dawn, when a man jumped from a crostown car, going west, and holding a bloody wrist before him, said:

"I've just been shot. I thought I could get away with it, but I can't. It's beginning to hurt," asked the policeman.

"What's the charge?" asked the sergeant.

"He's been shot in the charge," spoke up Curran, "and he won't tell who shot him."

Shielded His Assailants.

Dr. Winthrop came from Gouverneur Hospital. The wound in Kramer's arm was not serious, but it was painful, and the bullet was still deep in the flesh. The surgeon stuck a probe deep into the man's arm and then he blurted out:

"Who is she?" Kramer was asked. "The girl those men attacked me for," he blurted out before he knew what he was saying, such was his pain. "She had nothing to do with it," he added.

Then the police asked Kramer who the men were who had attacked him, but he was as dumb as an oyster.

"To give you their names would give you hers," he answered. "I won't tell any names. She must not be brought into this."

Then he was led away to a cell, and today he will be arraigned in Essex Market Police Court on the charge of being a suspicious person.

WIFE IN HOSPITAL, SHOOT HIMSELF

Retired Butcher, Who Had Hoped to Enjoy Life, Grew Despondent.

George Dangler, a retired butcher, shot himself through the forehead in his kitchen at the rear of No. 60 Vandervoort avenue, Brooklyn, today. His daughter Bertha found him lying on the floor with a small rusty revolver at his side and a hole between his eyes. Her brother George ran for a policeman and a doctor, but the bullet had passed through the brain from front to back, and Ambulance Surgeon Hutchinson, of 2nd Avenue, said Dangler must have died instantly.

Two months ago, on his fifteenth birthday, Dangler sold his business to Herman Wasserman and moved upstairs over the shop, still retaining the use of the two back rooms on the ground floor. It was in one of these two rooms that he killed himself.

After he came up his butcher trade Dangler set himself to enjoy life. He went often to meetings of German singing societies, and he had a good time. He became ill and had to go to St. John's Hospital for an operation. Mrs. Dangler's illness weighed upon the husband's mind and made him despondent.

The suicide owned the house where he lived. His brother Jacob, one of the largest dealers in provisions in Brooklyn, was his partner.

SCHOOL BOARD WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS

White Plague to Be Made Subject of Series of Talks in Free Lecture Course.

A campaign against tuberculosis is to be waged by the Board of Education by means of its free public lecture course to adults. The "grown-ups" in the various boroughs are to be instructed as to ways and means for the prevention of the white plague. Drs. Addison V. Baird, John B. Huber and S. Adolphe Knorr will be the lecturers.

Dr. Baird will give the first lecture at the Colored Men's Branch of the Y. M. C. A. No. 22 West-Fifty-third street. Other lectures will be directed in various sections of the city. Frank J. Belcher, scheduled to lecture at Public School No. 27, One Hundred and Forty-fifth street, and one at the "Burgoyne" Campaign.

To-morrow evening at Public School No. 4, Hubert and Collier streets, Edward Ayle will give a lecture on "An Evening in Ireland," illustrating his talk with stereoscopic views and bird calls.
